

EMPLOYER ENGAGEMENT

It is now widely accepted that encounters with the world of work are vitally important for all young people. Employer engagement is at the heart of the UK's Department for Education's careers strategy.

As part of our careers programme at St Bede's Catholic College, we are keen to work with employers to support our students to prepare for future careers and employment. The college aim is to help our students to reach their potential as they move on to their chosen destination.

With the support of employers, we can help students to be fully informed about their next steps.

Below are a number of ways employers could help:

- linking visits to the workplace or talks relevant to academic subjects
- helping to build students' knowledge of employability skills in the workplace
- offering talks to students interested in particular industries
- delivering assemblies to students on industries or sectors informing students of the world of work
- offering work experience
- participating in career fairs and meet the professionals events
- offering mock interview experience

If you are an employer and would like to support us in any of the above or any other way, please email Mrs Bartlett-Cosway, Careers Development Officer at bartlett-coswayk@stbcc.org
